DETAILED ACTION

Remarks

Claims 2-9 are pending examination.

Claim Objections

Claims 5 & 6 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75 as being a substantial duplicate of claim 2. When two claims in an application are duplicates or else are so close in content that they both cover the same thing, despite a slight difference in wording, it is proper after allowing one claim to object to the other as being a substantial duplicate of the allowed claim. See MPEP § 706.03(k).

Claim 8 is objected to because of the following informalities: In line 2 – 1300'C should read 1300°C. Appropriate correction is required.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-4 & 7-9 are allowed.

The closest prior art US Patent 6,248,468 (Ruka) teaches an anode supported tubular solid oxide fuel cell with the anode electrode of NiO and yttria stabilized zirconia (YSZ), an electrolyte and a cathode of perovskite oxides such as LaMnO3. The tubular fuel cell has an interconnecting strip down the center of the tube to electrically connect multiple tubes together. While Ruka does not discuss the exact method of sintering and taping, the sintering of the ceramic materials is well known in the art and the taping or masking of areas to produce a clean area, void of the previous coating is also known in the art. However, the prior art does not teach of a cathode comprising of at least three layers of three different perovskite materials. Ruka also does not teach or suggest forming a plurality of grooves and channels in a metal plate, polishing the metal plate, coating the metal plate with a perovskite material and then using the coated plate as an interconnector for multiple fuel cells.

US Publication 2005/0037252 (Pham) teaches an anode supported solid oxide fuel cell with metal interconnectors to electrically connect multiple tubular fuel cells. However, Pham does not teach or suggest a cathode comprising at least three layers of three different perovskite materials or the metal interconnector being coated with a perovskite material.
